

My name is Robin Drennon and I live in Dallas, Texas. About me: I own my own company, work full-time, am married and have two grown daughters. My journey with Rocky Mountain horses began with a discussion (many years ago) with my daughter's hunter/jumper instructor who happened to live next door to a woman who owned Rockies. One purchase led to having a small breeding farm southeast of Dallas with many well-loved Rockies.

I am seeking one of the Member At Large positions on the RMHA board because I want to see this breed flourish and grow. Texas is a huge horse-friendly and horse-savvy state, yet Rocky Mountain horses are few and far between. My desire is to see that change here and in other states as well.

Texas has had several successful mountain horse clubs of which I've always been an officer. I recently finished two terms as the Lone Star Rocky Club president. Under my leadership, the Lone Star Rocky Club exhibited at the huge State Fair of Texas for three years in a row and the Northeast Texas Equifest two years in a row. Additionally, I was instrumental in orchestrating the first Rocky Mountain-hosted horse show in Texas in 2016. I'm chairing another large Rocky-based horse show in Dallas as we speak. It is very important to me to get our breed upfront and center.

I enjoy marketing and promoting this breed! It has become a passion for me! As a business owner, I know the importance of having a quality product that one believes in, and our Rocky Mountain horses are just that: Quality. I believe in this breed. I'm proud of this breed. Their versatility, temperament, talent and beauty should not be a well-kept secret. I will strive to encourage our organization to adopt an encompassing view, entertain new concepts and try new ideas. Change and diversity are good and can be incorporated while keeping in place the necessary rules and regulations.

I look forward to serving!
